The workshop was organized for MBA second semester students. The aim of the workshop was to make students understand how “to solve different problems they confront during their life and career.” The theme was well presented and explained by Ms. Anjali Dutta, Founder Director, Train Me Academy.

Ms. Anjali Dutta explained the concepts clearly and aptly with the help of visual aids like videos and presentations. She advised students to understand what the problem is and give due time to research the alternative solutions of the problem. The solution of problem is to be developed step by step. She emphasized on analysing the problem and generating alternative solutions to the problem. Her anecdotal and relevant examples to demonstrate various problems and development of their solution were thought provoking.

She also provided a five-step framework for learning music like guitar or playing volleyball to explain the problem-solving method: Collaborative efforts are always helpful in the form of Five ‘W’ – What, When, why, How and Where??
